- *0968 INDIGENOUS PEOPLE'S DECLARATION—Ms Clover Moore asked the Minister for Local Government, Minister for Aboriginal Affairs, Minister Assisting the Minister for Health (Mental Health) —

Noting that -

- the United Nations has adopted a Declaration on the Rights of Indigenous Peoples;
- the Commonwealth Government has refused to support this international agreement; and
- the history of "early warning and urgent action" requests of Australia by the UN Committee on the Elimination of Racial Discrimination:

- (1) Has the NSW Government assessed the impacts of this new declaration?
- (2) What action can the NSW Government take to support the intent of this Declaration and apply its principles in NSW?
- (3) What is the Government's program of action on this matter?

Answer—

(1) Assessment of international law instruments such as the Declaration on the Rights of Indigenous Peoples is a matter for the Australian Government.

The Australian Government decided to vote against the adoption of the Declaration, and unless a future Australian Government enacts the Declaration or parts of the Declaration into domestic legislation, there is no impact for NSW.

(2) and (3) The NSW Government is doing much to support the intent and underlying principles of the Declaration.

The Aboriginal Land Rights Act 1983 recognises and compensates Aboriginal people for past injustices with respect to their land rights. Aboriginal Land Councils created under this Act are based on self-determination and create opportunities to provide social, economic and cultural benefits for Aboriginal people. Recent amendments to this Act have improved the governance of Aboriginal Land Councils.

Two Ways Together, the NSW Aboriginal Affairs Plan 2003-2012, reinforces the NSW Government's commitment to Aboriginal self-determination and respect for Aboriginal cultural diversity. The NSW State Plan priority of Strengthening Aboriginal Communities (F1) identifies Two Ways Together as the means for improving health, education and social outcomes for Aboriginal people.
