Great to visit Dunghutti Elders Council this week to check out recent work done on their building in Kempsey to improve the facilities and repair significant damage, restoring the building to a place of pride for the community.

The work was funded by the NSW and Federal Governments through the Aboriginal-owned Assets Program which supports the long-term recovery of disaster impacted Aboriginal communities, helping build greater flood resilience and delivering positive economic and social outcomes.

Thanks to Dunghutti Elders Council Chairman Pastor Leo Wright, GM Amie Jacky and Board and community members for having me.
