Questions from the Hon. A. Searle, MLC

Home Building Act Reform

1. Given the Home Building Amendment Act 2011 was assented in October 2011 why is the Government again reviewing the Home Building Act 1989?
2. What advice, if any, has the Minister received from NSW Fair Trading regarding the submission of Mr David Masterton to the Review of Home Building Legislation?
3.
  - a. Were any sections of the Home Building Act 1989 presently under review previously amended by the Home Building Amendment Act 2011?
  - b. If so, why are further amendments being considered so soon after the Home Building Amendment Act 2011?
4.
  - a. Has the Minister discussed any aspect of Home Building Legislation with Mr David Masterton, CEO of Masterton Homes, during any of their meetings (including lunches) this year?
  - b. Will the Minister outline the content of any discussions with Mr Masterton regarding Home Building Legislation?
5.
  - a. Has the Minister discussed any aspect of Home Building Legislation with Mr Vic Cavasinni of CEO of Cavasinni Constructions and Beechwood Homes, during any of their meetings (including lunches) this year?
  - b. Will the Minister outline the content of any discussions with Mr Cavasinni regarding Home Building Legislation?
  - a. Has the Minister discussed any aspect of Home Building Legislation with Mr Peter Fowler of Fowler Homes, during any of their meetings (including lunches) this year?
  - b. Will the Minister outline the content of any discussions with Mr Fowler regarding Home Building Legislation?
7.
  - a. What is the rationale for the proposed repeal s92B of the Home Building Act 1989?
  - b. When did the Government decide to review the possible repeal of s92B of the Home Building Act 1989?

8. What guidelines or protocols govern meetings between stakeholder groups and the Minister for Fair Trading?
  - a. What are the benefits of changing the broad definition of 'structural defect' under Clause 71 of the Home Building Regulation to an 'exhaustive list of potential structural defects' as proposed in the document Reform of the Home Building Act 1989 Issue Paper (p. 20)?
  - b. Does the Government propose to outline the 'exhaustive list of potential structural defects' in any proposed legislation or by regulation? If not, why not?
  - c. How will Fair Trading determine which structural faults will be included in an 'exhaustive list of potential structural defects'?
10. I refer to last year's amendment to the the limitations set for home warranty insurance for structural and non-structural defects within the Home Building Amendment Act 2011 to six years and two years respectively.
  - a) Has the Government placed the time limitations set for home warranty insurance for structural and none structural defects under s18E (1) of the Home Building Act 1989 under review again?
  - b) If so why?

Strata Laws

11. What legal recourse, if any, will be available to unit strata owners forced to sell their properties to developers as a result of proposed changes to amend the current requirement of a unanimous resolution for the termination of a strata scheme?
12. Should the current requirement of a unanimous resolution prior to the termination of a strata scheme be replaced by a threshold floor of at least 75%:
  - a. What, if any, measures will the Department put in place to ensure that all strata unit owners receive a fair price?
  - b. Will these measures take into consideration the price that owners are willing to pay?
  - c. Will these measures ensure that at a minimum the price paid for a strata property is at least the market price? If so, how?
  - d. Will strata unit owners unhappy with the price paid for their homes be entitled to compensation?
  - e. Will the Government establish an independent tribunal to resolve disputes between strata unit owners and property developers where there is a discrepancy between the price a developer is willing to pay and the price the owner is prepared to sell? If not, why not?

- f. How will the Government ensure a level playing field during the sale negotiation process between unit strata owners and developers?
- g. Will the Government commit to provide legal representation to unit strata owners affected by this amendment, in particular pensioners, who are unable to afford it?

13. The Strata & Community Title Law Reform Discussion Paper, Making NSW No 1 Again: Shaping Future Communities, suggests that 'one of the factors stifling urban renewal is the complex and difficult process associated with terminating the strata scheme' (p 22).

What are the factors in current strata legislation regulating the termination of strata schemes that make the process 'complex and difficult'?

14. Who will be charged with the responsibility of determining when a building is at a 'tired' or 'run down' condition to warrant forced acquisition?

15. In the circumstances where a building is in good condition will legislation that requires the unanimous agreement of all unit owners continue to underpin those strata scheme or will the Government introduce a blanket rule that the agreement of 75% or 90% of all unit owners is enough to force remaining strata owners to sell despite the condition of the complex?

16. Given that the Strata & Community Title Law Reform Discussion Paper, Making NSW No 1 Again: Shaping Future Communities proposes to increase the responsibilities of the Consumer Trade and Tenancy Tribunal (CTTT) to include reviewing the compliance of procedures that regulate the termination process of strata schemes.

How much extra funding will be needed to ensure the CTTT will be able to facilitate the compliance of the proposed reform of the termination process of strata schemes?

Safety Devices on Windows

17. Will the Government legislate for the retrospective installation of safety devices on all windows located two metres and higher by the Owners' Corporation of strata unit complexes? If not, why not?

18. Why did the Government fail to include the mandatory installation of window limiting locks or reinforced screens on windows above two metres in its comprehensive review of Strata laws currently being undertaken?

19. What strategies, if any, have been devised by the Government to address the concerns raised by the Children's Hospital at Westmead Working Party for the Prevention of Children Falling from Buildings report?

20. Has the Government instigated its own review on the safety issues relating to children and windows above two metres in residential strata complexes?

21. What advice has the Minister received regarding the projected cost to households of mandatory retrospective installation or window limiting locks and reinforced screens on windows above two metres?

Response to Australian National Car Parks PL complaints:

22. What is the Government's position on the practice of issuing 'fines' by companies such as Australian National Car Parks Pty Ltd?

23.
